

BGSBU Celebrates National Girl Child Day

"The National Girl Child Day " was celebrated by the Department of English on the 24th of January, 22. Prof. Akbar Masood, Vice Chancellor of the University lauded the efforts of the department of English for organising the event. Head of the department Dr Romina Rashid briefed the students about the importance of celebrating "The National Girl Child Day", as it would not only help in bringing a balance in the society but would help in the socio-economic development also. The students who spoke on the topic were Jaspreet Kour, from the Department of English. She said that no country can flourish if it stifles the development of its women. Toybah Shamsir said that education is a powerful tool for development and progress. Maryam Shabir talked about the various schemes of the Government of India for the benefit of Girls.

The students from the Department of Mathematics also participated and presented their views Iftiza Yakoob explained " Beti Bachao, Beti Pado Scheme", she said that it is not an individual responsibility but collective responsibility of the people to improve the lives of girls. Gosia Mushtaq emphasised the importance of educating girls. Those who were present on the occasion included faculty members of English and Mathematics, Scholars and students. The programme ended with the concluding remarks by the head department of the English women should learn to be assertive, and try to fight against the cultural and social stereotypes that are blocking their paths of progress.